The Ice Carnival.

The masquerade ice carnival held Monday night and sponsored by the I.O.E. proved to be the most successful event of its kind held at the Didsbury rink for some years.

The masqueraders turned out in good numbers and there were some excellent costumes.

The races attracted a lot of entries while the broomball games perhaps provided the greatest fun of the evening. Ruth Liesemer's team narrowly beat that of Marjorie Burns by a score of one goal to nothing. The married men vs. single men game resulted in a scoreless tie.

The following were the results of the awards for best costumes:

Best dressed lady, Muriel Brightman.

Best dressed gentleman, Leonard Berscht.

Ladies Comic, Opha Halliday.

Men's Comic, Howard Halliday.

Couple, Annetta Sheils and Alma Shaw.

Children's Best, Carman Stevens.

Children's Comic, Dorothy Huget and Janet Ames.

Prizewinners in the races were as follows:

Boys 9 and under: 1 Royden Moon, 2 Jack Cummins, 3 Carman Stevens.

Girls 12 and under: 1 Doreen Gillrie, 2 Marguerite Fisher, 3 Adeline Buhr.

Boys 12 and under: 1 Ralph Edwards, 2 Bill Moon, 3 Roy Reiffenstein.

Mountain View M.D. Annual Meeting

The annual meeting of the Mountain View Municipality was held at the Olds School of Agriculture on Saturday last.

The blocked roads undoubtedly prevented a large number from attending but there were about sixty ratepayers present.

Mr C. B. Jensen was elected chairman of the meeting.

The financial statement and the reports of the Hail Board and Hospital Board were read and adopted with very little discussion.

Mr. George Nilson introduced a resolution recommending that the council do no new construction work during the coming year, and that the grants to the agricultural societies and the Salvation Army be discontinued. He spoke at length to the motion but failed to get a second.

There was considerable discussion with regard to moving of the snow on the highways and the question was asked why the council did not purchase snowplows as recommended by the last annual meeting. It was explained that on account of the hail the council deemed it best to defer the purchase of snow plows.

The question of registered seed was introduced with a suggestion that possibly a carload could be obtained for both Olds and Didsbury. There was, however, very little interest shown in the matter.

At the request of a committee of farmers from the Calgary district a petition to be presented to the Furgeon Commission, which meets in Calgary in March, was circulated asking that a Federal Wheat Board be established. About 20 signatures were obtained at the meeting and the petitions are now in the hands of the secretary at Didsbury and Councillor Dodd at Olds.

The returning officer called for nominations for councillors in Divisions 1 and 2. Reeve P. Saunders was nominated for Div. 1 and Coun. Archer for Div. 2. As these were the only names presented they were both declared elected by acclamation.

COUNCIL MEETING.

At the close of the annual meeting a council meeting was held chiefly to deal with matters of relief.

Six applications for relief were dealt with. The secretary reported that $323.40 had been paid out in unemployment relief during January.

Reports from the Board of Review of four cases under the Farmer's Debt Arrangement Act were presented.

A by-law was passed authorizing tax consolidation for 1937.

Westerdale M.D. Annual Meeting

Westerdale M.D. No. 811 held its annual meeting at the Westerdale Community Hall on Saturday last. Reeve George Clark was elected to the chair. The financial statement and reports from the hail board and hospital board were adopted as read. Councillor Hogg gave his report of the municipal convention.

The discussion on road work brought out numerous ideas, some being in favor of curtailing the work. It was decided by the meeting, however, that it would not be good business to further curtail the work on roads.

In the discussion on weeds it was suggested that the farmers be required to destroy all weeds on the roads adjoining their farms. However, it was decided that the present method (whereby the municipality takes care of the weeds on the roadside) be continued.

There was much discussion as regards auto licenses, and a resolution was passed that "inasmuch as the farmers had been unable to operate cars on account of snow-blocked roads, the Provincial government be asked to refund the fees paid by farmers for stickers."

A decision was arrived at whereby the municipality should purchase a carload of Registered Seed Oats, which will be sold for cash to farmers of the municipality. The price of registered seed oats, it was expected, would be 65c per bushel.

Nominations were called for the office of councillor in Divisions 5 and 6. Reeve George Clark for Division 5 and Councillor Charles Brown for Division 6, were the only persons nominated. They were therefore declared elected by acclamation.

W.C.T.U. Notes.

Mrs. Grace Knight of Edmonton, provincial president, W.C.T.U., addressed a public meeting at the United Church last Thursday night before a numerous audience.

Mrs. Knight delivered a most interesting lecture on W.C.T.U. work in Great Britain, the United States and Alberta, which proved very encouraging. She urged all mothers to join the temperance work to protect the youth of the country against the liquor traffic.

After the address a musical program was enjoyed.

"Lighthouse Nan."

This powerful and absorbing 3-act melodrama is being presented with the assurance that it will please our audience.

Each act teems with bright dialogue and quick action, and the situations work themselves into a happy ending in a concise and logical manner. The comedy is clean-cut and human.

You will love the simplicity of cheerful, artless Nan, who considers herself the grandchild of Ichabod and Moll, and you will rejoice with her in her final good fortune.

The following is a list of the cast:

Mr. Enlow, wealthy business man
Al. Thomas
Ned, young city chap, Nan's lover,
Lex Wallace
Ichabod, the lighthouse keeper,
Dave Jenkins
Moll Buzzer, wife of Ichabod,
Mrs. Dave Edwards

Dorothy Ranton
Sir Arthur, an English nobleman,
John Goertz
Sarah, sister of Sir Arthur,
Mary Parrott
Hortense, John Enlow's daughter,
Marvel McCoy
January, the mule
Biddy, the setting hen

Come and meet all these characters, and as Mr. Ford has kindly consented to have the School Orchestra assist between acts, you may rest assured that there will not be a dull moment throughout the evening's entertainment.

Values In Higher Education

Of what value is a University education?

This is not a new question but it is one which is frequently raised and perhaps more so in the past few years than in any similar period in the past.

It is a question to which no hard and fast answer, unalterable as the laws of the Medes and Persians, can be given. It is one, however, which many parents, who have scrimped and sacrificed many of the pleasures, yes, and even the necessities of life to send one or more offspring to an expensive fount of wisdom, must have asked themselves and are still asking themselves, in the light of subsequent results.

Theoretically, of course, there is only one answer to the question: In the educational cloisters there is strongly represented a school of thought which firmly adheres to the doctrine that no one can get too much education, that a University course cannot be otherwise than beneficial and that no one can possibly take the training which leads to a sheepskin parchment without reaping lasting benefits, material, social and cultural, therefrom.

On the other hand, there is a growing body of public opinion that is not prepared to subscribe in toto to this belief, while there are some who go even farther and assert emphatically that not only is a University education a waste of money, but that it is actually detrimental in the after-struggle to carve a niche for oneself in the world of business affairs.

Included among the proponents of the latter dogma are the parents of boys and girls who have seen their offspring leave these halls of learning, presumably a finished product, only to find there is no place for them in the commercial sphere, or in the alternative, one which does not measure up to the attainments of the applicant, while lads and lassies who stepped on the low rungs in office or store as public or high school neophytes are at least making a living, even though a meagre one, and some of them moving up towards an executive's desk.

But even after making allowance for what is presumably the temporary effect of depressed conditions the same proponents point to the large number of so-called self-made men who to-day are leaders in their respective business spheres in comparison with the number of University graduates occupying similar posts, in support of their contention that higher education is of little or no value in post graduate life, except among the professions.

The present day tragedy of the unwanted varsity graduate is at least to some extent a corollary of the economic and agricultural depression and its aftermath. Where this is not the sole reason for their plight, other answers must be given to the question of the why and the wherefore.

As is so often the case in attempting to answer a general question, the truth is not to be found in the viewpoint of the extreme dogmatist at either pole. For few problems is there a "yes" or "no" solution. There are conditional clauses and individual factors for which provision must be made in answering almost any question of sweeping application. And it is so in this case.

Setting aside for the moment the effect of temporary economic disabilities it can be said without fear of supportable contradiction that the value of a University education to youth depends on the ability and aptitude of the applicant for admittance, the avowed purposes of the institution itself, the fitness of its aims and the manner in which it discharges its obligations.

In other words if a full harvest is to be borne, the student soil must be both receptive and productive and the institution must be ready and able to plan the right kind of viable seed in the right manner for that particular soil.

In far too many cases one or other of these requisites is lacking. The student may be mediocre or lack capacity to take advantage of the facilities offered or, on the other hand, the institution may not be geared up to provide the particular type of training best suited to the requirements of the student. In other instances the student's aspirations are immature. He has no particular goal in sight and in such cases waste of time and money are the inevitable result.

Before deciding to make great sacrifices to their own detriment or to the disadvantage of other members of the family to send a son or daughter to a university, parents would be well advised to make a careful and impartial analysis of the ability, the capacity and the aspirations of the would-be college graduate, and having done this to make sure that the institution to which he or she is to be sent fulfils the requirements, lest disappointment ensue.

Had Rare Experience

U.S. Aviator Saw Two Sunrises In One Morning

One aviator saw two sunrises on New Year's Day. At 6 a.m. Major Alford J. Williams of Garden City went up 22,000 feet in his plane and saw the sun raise its head out of the sea east of Montauk. He saw it a second time just before he brought his plane down on Roosevelt Field at 7:20.

But, of course, no real airman will be content until he has realized the life ambition of the captain of the air-mail packet in Kipling's story. When flying speeds are up to approximately 1,000 miles an hour our pilots can race neck and neck with the sun. "We'll Joshua you," said Kipling's navigator, shaking his fist at the pursuing orb of day. New York Times.

Wealthiest Man In World

Riches Of Nizam Of Hyderabad Cannot Be Computed

Edwin C. Hill, in Scribner's states that the Nizam of Hyderabad is by far the wealthiest man on earth. By universal reckoning the Nizam is worth at least one billion dollars. He has 800 tons of gold stored up in the strong room of his place—more gold than the Bank of England holds today. The stoop-shouldered, coffee-colored master of 13,000,000 lives has so many diamonds, rubies, emeralds and pearls that he could use shovels to take them from the bins where they are stored.

HAD AGONIZING
PAINS IN HER BACK

Free From Pain Since Taking Kruschen

Like many other sufferers from backache and rheumatic ailments, this woman decided to try Kruschen Salts in a last attempt to obtain relief from pain. To her surprise, the pains did grow less, and in a few months the backache had disappeared. Having made sure of the results, she now writes as follows:

"For about four months I had agonizing pains in my back, and could not turn in bed. During that time I tried various remedies, but obtained no relief, and was seriously considering going into hospital. However, seeing a case similar to mine described in an advertisement for Kruschen, I thought I would try it, and was more than surprised to find the pain getting less. I have been taking Kruschen for four months, and would not be without it for anything. I must say I am free from those dreadful pains." (Mrs.) B.C.

Kruschen is an excellent diuretic—that is, it helps to stimulate kidney functions. When kidneys are restored to healthy, normal action, poisonous waste is properly eliminated, the blood-stream is purified, and you get welcome relief from the dragging pains of backache.

Surrey Town Decides Married Men Must Represent Them

Conservative party authorities at Richmond, the pleasant and historic Surrey town which nowadays is a better-class London dormitory, let it be known they are resolved to have a married man as the town's parliamentary representative.

He must also have had some political experience, but must be fairly young. More than 70 names so far have been considered for the seat, where hitherto large Tory majorities have been the rule.

The seat is to be vacated by Sir William Ray, 61-year-old widower, who is retiring for reasons of ill-health.

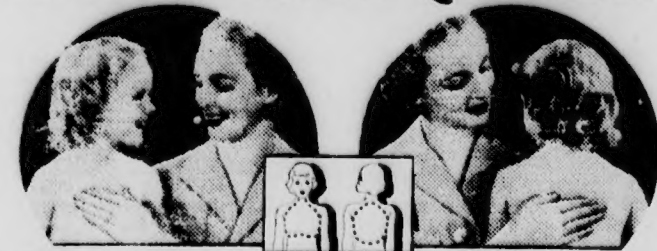

Another Sugar Beet Payment

Another $85,000, representing 40 cents a ton, has been paid 1,000 sugar beet growers of southern Alberta. First bonus on the 1936 crop, this brings payments to date to $5.55 a ton against final payments of $5.85 a ton for the 1935 crop.

Here's the Modern Way to Help
END A COLD Quicker

The 3-Minute VapoRub Massage

Massage VapoRub briskly on the throat, chest and back (between and below the shoulder blades). Then spread it thick over the chest and cover with warm cloth.

Almost before you finish rubbing, VapoRub starts to bring relief two ways at once—two direct ways:

1. Through the Skin. VapoRub acts direct through the skin like a poultice or plaster.

2. Medicated Vapors. At the same time, its medicated vapors, released by body heat, are breathed in for hours—about 18 times a minute—direct to the irritated air-passages of the nose, throat and chest. This combined poultice-and-vapor action loosens phlegm—relieves irritation—helps break congestion.

During the night, VapoRub keeps right on working. Often, by morning the worst of the cold is over.

Avoids Risk of Stomach Upsets
This safe, external treatment cannot possibly upset the stomach, as constant internal "dosing" is so apt to do. It can be used freely, as often as needed, even on the youngest child.

Now White—Stainless
Thanks to a new process, VapoRub now comes to you in white stainless form. Only the color is removed; it is the same VapoRub—the same formula and the same effective double action.

Practically any doctor you ask will warn: "Don't give your child unknown remedies without asking your doctor first."

Faster Cruising Speed Of Commercial Planes Provides A Problem For Airports

Increase of nearly 100 miles an hour in cruising speed of commercial planes in the past five years has provided a problem for airports on the trans-Canada airways that the government is meeting with direct financial assistance.

Hon. C. D. Howe, minister of transport, explained the purpose behind a recently-signed order-in-council empowering the government to assist municipalities on the trans-Canada airway which will be inaugurated next summer.

"Some years ago," he said, "a number of cities on this route provided airports at their own expense, but progress in aviation has brought larger and faster aircraft into use and facilities which were satisfactory at that time no longer meet the needs of modern air services."

"It is felt that the efficient operation of the trans-Canada airway is contingent on the provision of proper airports in the principal cities to be served and the financial position of those cities to-day renders it difficult for them to undertake the improvement of existing airports or the provision of new airports suitable to modern requirements."

"The government has, therefore, undertaken to extend a measure of financial assistance to the municipalities concerned to the extent of not more than one-third of the amount already expended by such municipalities on improved airports; also not more than one-third of the amount which any municipality on the trans-Canada airway may agree to expend on improvements to existing or new airports on the airway."

Hangers and buildings do not come within the order-in-council.

In making the airport improvements, departmental officials said, speeds of at least 200 miles an hour will have to be considered. Five years ago the average cruising speed of commercial aeroplanes was about 100 miles an hour; now it is 180 miles or more.

King George Approves Plans

Full Schedule Of Coronation Events Has Been Announced

Britain will celebrate the coronation of the king on May 12 with an 11-week program of dinners, levees, balls and reviews expected to surpass the pomp and circumstance originally scheduled for Edward VIII.

The full schedule of events, beginning with a court reception on May 5 and ending with a garden party at Buckingham palace July 22, was approved by the king and announced by the Duke of Norfolk.

King George will broadcast a message to the empire the evening of May 12, review the fleet May 20 and make state visits to Scotland and Wales in July.

The ceremony of trooping the colors in honor of the king's birthday anniversary will be celebrated June 9.

The final route the coronation procession will follow from Buckingham palace to Westminster Abbey and return was announced without change, to the relief of thousands who already had purchased tickets.

The royal servants at the state banquet and other functions will be attired in full state livery, with knee breeches, silk stockings and coats of scarlet, dark blue and gold.

The dinner to be given by the Duke of Gloucester on the eve of the coronation will be an indication of his position as the male member of the royal family next in the succession to the throne—the position normally occupied by the Prince of Wales.

The king's broadcast May 12 probably will be made from the study in the palace from which King George V. made his broadcast to the empire on his silver jubilee in 1935.

The state service of gold plate and the "Garter" china will be used at the state banquet.

Correct glasses do not weaken the eyes in any way; they may prove harmful, however, if worn after examination proves them unnecessary.

Language Corrupted

Says Canadians Are Slipping In Use Of Good English

C. Egerton Lowe, international examiner of the Trinity College of Music, London, England, says Canadians are slipping as far as the English language is concerned. He maintains they speak "American," not English.

He describes the lapse as "lip and tongue laziness," but adds: "I'm not complaining, but personally I do think it a pity; English is such a beautiful language—this English of Shakespeare, Milton and a hundred others."

"When in Toronto in 1928 it was the exception to find wrong pronunciation of words and mispronunciation of the vowel 'u' and of the short 'a' where we use the broad 'a', but now the Canadian speech is going well on the American side rather than the English side, and this makes a difficulty where candidates in our examinations are reciting great English verse or prose."

"Undoubtedly to-day the language is being corrupted in a great many ways, and while I don't like to speak with disrespect about any country, the Americans among themselves have corrupted the English language," he said. "In fact, it is not the English language that is being spoken in America to-day. It is the American."

Has Its Drawbacks

Women Would Get Little Pleasure Out Of Regional Cooking

Women in working-class homes spend too much time preparing and clearing away meals, writes a doctor in the "British Medical Journal." To ease their burden he suggested regional cooking arrangements.

A sound enough scheme and one which should appeal to the over-worked housewives. But if it led to the general establishment in this country of the "kitchen factories" of Soviet Russia, there would be excuse for expressing regret.

In those Russian institutions the housewife can buy her joint and other dishes ready-prepared. All she has to do is to pop them in the oven and keep an eye on the clock. Delightfully simple, but—"This is nice—do tell me the recipe." Those are words that give great pleasure to most women. How annoying to have to admit that one had no part in the making. And how lost we would all be if we couldn't say of some particular meal that it was as good as any that mother ever prepared with her own hands. London Sunday Pictorial.

No Number Thirteen

Because Railway Sleepers Have Room For Only Twelve Berths

Conversationists like to look up superstitions and are prone to tell listeners that most of us are subject to beliefs of silly sentiment. They say the figure "13" is seldom used by those catering to the general public in hotels or ships or trains. It is hardly truth. Of course, it is particularly a fact that you never meet a "No. 13" berth on a railway sleeper. However, there is good reason why a sleeping car has no berth 13. Those now used have room for only 12 compartments, upper and lower. And they do not have fourteen or fifteen either. Brandon Sun.

The Patient Sailor

During the first evening of a visit to her daughter at the seaside an old woman who had never seen the sea before was found intently watching the lighthouse.

"What infinite patience sailors have," she said.

"Why?" asked her daughter.

"Well," she replied, "the wind has blown that light out 33 times since I've been watching, and each time they relighted it."

Men With Experience

Employers Should Not Reject Workers No Longer Young

President Roosevelt has made a special plea to industry to employ men over 40. This is certainly a good move because it is men over 40 who have the larger family responsibilities, and they are just as much entitled to employment as younger men. It is an unfortunate fact, however, that so many employers will scarcely look at a man of middle age and beyond unless they are seeking cheap labor, then they think a man should consider himself lucky to get a job at all. Advertisements can be seen in big city newspapers every day for men with the stipulation that they be not over 30 or 35.

Some years ago Henry Ford erected a plant at Ypsilanti, Michigan, and before doing so he ascertained the ages of the male population. He then directed that an exact cross-section be employed, the result being that a percentage of the new jobs were given to men of 40, 50, 60 and even 70. He intimated later that he was satisfied with the arrangement.

The virility of youth is a splendid thing to have, particularly if there is allied with it the best kind of training. But there is one thing youth cannot have, and that is experience. An older head which has had to deal with office or factory problems is often much better than "book learnin'" and every man who has reached the second half of life has had cause to be thankful for that experience. And employers have, too. St. Thomas Times-Journal.

Old Proverb True

Cleveland Merchant Proved Saving Pennies Brought Him Dollars

In Cleveland lives a merchant who has paid off a mortgage on his little store by saving pennies. The prosaic statement of the old proverb, "Take care of the pennies and the dollars will take care of themselves," may not be sensational, but the actual instance of some one applying the principle in practice was considered worthy of publication in a good many newspapers. Why? Because the man kept up payments consistently during the entire depression period when a host of people were excusing themselves for not paying debts because times were hard. He saved and applied to his obligations the little sums that others were letting slip through their fingers as of too small value to be accounted for. And what did he get for his pennies? The payment of his debt and the maintenance of his honesty and self-respect. That's a big pennyworth!—Detroit News.

Tribute To A Horse

Dynamic Little Black Horse That Could Not Be Conquered

A new headstone marks a lonely grave on Colorado's plains.

It is a cowboy's tribute to Midnight, the "buckin'gest" bronc of them all.

In life, he was the arch-enemy of the top hands who ride the nation's rodeo circuit. Only once in 14 years from coast to coast did a waddie ever manage to stay on him—and then Midnight was old and tired.

Last November, when Midnight died after three years in retirement, he was buried in a grave on the ranch of McCarthy and Elliott, who had shown him during his career.

The cowhands at the ranch talked, during the long evenings, about the dynamic little black horse they couldn't conquer. They recalled he wasn't vicious—that he never trampled a rider he'd tossed.

Finally, they decided to erect the marker—with a poem on it. Every hand on the place collaborated in writing that epitaph, and it rhymes—after a fashion.

Now, the passerby who chances past the grave reads:

"Under this sod lies a great bucking boss
There never lived a cowboy he couldn't toss.
His name was Midnight; his coat black as coal.
If there is a hoss-heaven, please,
God, rest his soul."

Good Word For Cows

Agricultural College Employee Thinks They Are Smarter Than Horses

Take it from Miss Pearl Gardner of Cornell University's Agricultural School, the cow is not so dumb as her cud-chewing propensities have indicated. Five years of tests made with 72 horses, 48 cows and 11 sheep have convinced Miss Gardner that the cow is smarter than the horse and the sheep Dobbins' mental equal. "Cows," she told the American association for the advancement of science, "catch on quicker, remember better." The horse has gained his reputation for intelligence because of the fact that he trusts man far more than any other barnyard animal. Miss Gardner found no difficulty in teaching sheep to do tricks, such as taking a handkerchief out of her pocket, rolling a barrel and shaking hands, "just as easily as a horse." So now we may be expected to extoll "cow sense" as the ideal of solid thinking. Detroit Saturday Night.

Belgian linen factories are working full time to supply tents and uniforms for European armies.

The earth revolves about the sun in 365 days, 5 hours, 48 minutes, and 48 seconds.

Interesting figures were revealed at a conference attended by representatives of the Dominion Government, the United States Government, provincial governments and others concerned, called to consider matters relating to conservation of wild animals and birds. It was reported that the annual turnover in Canada's business directly dependent on migratory birds alone amounted to $3,500,000, and insectivorous birds are estimated to have an annual value to Canadian production of $100,000,000.

Rapid depletion of game supplies in the southern parts of the Prairie Provinces and elsewhere were regarded with concern, but a report was received from the Central Experimental Farm at Ottawa that successful breeding of wild ducks in captivity had been demonstrated. It was intimated that this industry might grow to large proportions but legislation would be necessary to permit the sale of wild ducks when raised under domestic conditions.

The Indian, apparently, compares favourably with the white man as a conservator of game. The delegates paid tribute to the Indians in this connection and complained of the destructive habits of white men.

A despatch from Washington says that United States waterfowl hunters are organizing to improve the "duck factories" of Canada.

The More Game Birds foundation announced the formation of "Ducks Unlimited," a national organization of American hunters incorporated as a non-profit foundation. Its objective will be to preserve and restore Canadian duck breeding grounds.

The program calls for the raising of several hundred thousand dollars annually during the next five years," the announcement said. "All capital to repair the duck factories will be raised in the United States."

Although more than $20,000,000 of United States government money has been spent on water and waterfowl restoration projects in recent years, the foundation estimates only five per cent. of the prairie-breeding ducks now nest in the States. Thirteen per cent. nest in the southern half of the Canadian provinces, Alberta, Saskatchewan and Manitoba, and 82 per cent. have been driven further north.

Premiers of the Canadian provinces and conservation groups have offered their co-operation. It is proposed to set aside and place under supervision possibly a million acres of Canadian refuges.

The Latest Invention

Tub-Table-Stove Combination Idea Of Ohio Man

Alfred Castanien, 82, felt the country needed "a good bath tub" so he set to work in the attic of his home in Columbus and finally came forth with a tub-table-stove combination which becomes one or the other as the housewife desires.

"There are somewhere between 6,000,000 and 15,000,000 homes in this country without regular tubs," Castanien declares. "Now, after eight years' experimentation, I have what the nation needs—a good tub."

The table has a stove at one end for gas or oil heating of water for the tub, which is revealed when one presses a gadget or two.

The whole affair is raised from the floor so, as Castanien points out, "you don't have to move it to sweep under it."

The World of Wheat.

By H. G. L. STRANGE

Director "Crop Testing Plan."

An international economic battle for wheat markets will some day—perhaps soon—take place.

The contestants will undoubtedly be Canada, the Argentine, Russia, the Danubian countries, Australia. Which exporting country will be able to increase its wheat acreage? Which will be forced to decrease acreage? And which will be able to hold the acreage they now have?

The country that can produce the highest quality at the lowest cost will win; the others will lose.

The harsh truth is that it is much more necessary for Canada to keep her present acreage in wheat than it is for any of the other countries. The Argentine has corn, flaxseed and cattle as substitutes. Australia has mutton and wool. The Danubian countries have corn, pork and tobacco. Russia has a very large population needing more foodstuffs. Canada alone has no substitutable product for export which she can grow on any substantial part of her twenty-four million acres now in wheat.

Western Canada, therefore, somehow must improve the quality of her wheat and bring down the cost of production. Can she do this? Yes! I for one believe she can, provided the Dominion government will assist the West, even more than it is now doing, along sound constructive lines.

Following factors have tended to raise price: German food scarcity becomes more evident as purchases made of Czechoslovakian, Indian and Australian wheat, also Argentine wheat and corn. Further large quantities of wheat probably needed; further dust storms with little precipitation in U.S. southwest; west coast Mexican vegetables damaged by frost.

Following factors have tended to lower price: Further heavy general rains benefit Indian wheat and linseed; on-passage wheat stocks increase; officially decided not to raise guaranteed price of wheat in France; pear and apple production in the Argentine increasing; Irish Free State increases home-grown wheat required in milling.

No. 2 Article on Grass & Legumes

Grasses, Legumes Boost Fertility

It is common knowledge that on thousands of farms in Alberta the soil is worn out from following a continuous rotation of grain interspersed with summerfallow. In a few more years, if this condition is further aggravated by adhering to the old system of farming, much of the land that has not actually left home will be covered with nothing but the weeds that grow on barren ground.

The question is: "How can this land be restored to its normal ability to produce good crops?"

And the answer is: "Through the intelligent use of grasses—to increase the fibre content, and of legumes and in some cases fertilizers—to restore fertility."

This does not apply to the short grass prairie, where the problem is much more complex and where the difficulties to be surmounted are vastly greater; but in the park belt and transitional prairie belt, this problem may be solved by the use of forage crops.

Rotation experiments conducted at the Dominion Experimental Station, Lacombe, have shown that in years of reasonable rainfall, wheat seeded after sweet clover will produce as good yields as wheat after summerfallow. Why not take advantage of the extra profit from the forage crop?

Each year more and more farmers are realizing their precarious predicament. As a result, more grass and legume crops are being included in farm rotations, and the yielding ability of this land is being restored, while weeds are being held in check.

Hay Mixtures Recommended.

Experience has shown, that in order to secure the best stand possible under current weather conditions, it is wise to seed mixtures of grasses and legumes. Such mixtures increase both the fertility and the fibre content of the soil, and produce hay which is relished by livestock.

For meadows to be left down for only one year, the Lacombe Station recommends the following: 15 Lbs. sweet clover; or 15 lbs sweet clover, 4 lbs timothy; or 10 lb sweet clover, 8 lb. rye grass.

For meadows to be used for two years: Mixture of 10 lb. sweet clover, 2 lb. timothy and 5 lb. rye grass is very suitable.

For meadows to be left down for three years or longer: 12 Lb. alfalfa; or 8 lb alfalfa, 2 lb. timothy, 5 lb rye grass; or 8 lb. alfalfa, 4 lb timothy; or 8 lb. alfalfa, 8 lb. brome grass.

Special mixtures are recommended for low wet places or wet districts. Where the land is not flooded for more than a week or ten days in the spring, a mixture of 4 lb each of timothy, red clover and alsike clover may be used. But where it is under water for a considerable time each year, 2 lb timothy, 2 lb red top and 4 lb. alsike, will produce better results.

The last in this series of articles on grasses and legumes, "Methods of seeding hay and pastures," will be published next week.

Early Church Started Fish Habit That Persists To This Day.

Fishermen from the Atlantic to the Pacific are hopeful that the present effort of the Canadian Government to promote consumption of Canadian fish will result in people eating more fish throughout the week, rather than confining this delicacy to Fridays.

Though fish has been eaten as a food since prehistoric times, the early Christian Church decreed that no meat should be eaten on Fridays and fast-days, but that fish might be substituted. From that arose a practice that has persisted down to the present time and has led people of every denomination to associate fish with Friday, often to the virtual exclusion of all other days.

According to leading executives of the fishing industry, this habit is not only harmful to the industry but is robbing people of many advantages.
If the people eat more fish throughout the week, they would be assured of fresher fish and they would get it at lower prices. The increased demand for the products of sea, lake and river would give an impetus to the whole industry and, while retail prices to the public would drop, the price to the fisherman would increase owing to the lessening of the present overhead caused by the public habit of eating fish mostly on Friday.

Not only the fishing industry, but the medical profession are behind the move to encourage people to eat more fish through the week. Many medical columnists of newspapers have gone on record as to the nutritive and healthful value of fish.
With its richness in proteins, minerals and other elements, they say, fish is an important article of diet, as nourishing as other foods and more easily digested.

Hard On Astronomers

Eclipse Of Sun Will Last Longest In Middle Of Pacific Ocean

The longest total eclipse of the sun since 1804, lasting seven minutes and four seconds, is the chief event on the astronomer's calendar for the new year. This will happen on June 8. Unfortunately, there is no land at the place where it lasts longest, in the middle of the Pacific Ocean. Useful observations can be made from shipboard, but the slight unsteadiness of a ship, even on a calm sea, will prevent many researchers for which this long eclipse would be ideally adapted.

The shadow will first touch earth in the Pacific Ocean in the vicinity of the New Hebrides, where the sun will rise eclipsed. Then it crosses the ocean and leaves the earth in Peru, where the sun sets while still hidden. At both the beginning and end of the track, the duration will not be as much as at the centre, and the sun will be very low in the sky, which will hamper observations.—Detroit Saturday Night.

A resolution requesting that the provincial government place a bounty on coyotes was passed by the Alberta Provincial Horse Breeders' Association at Edmonton. It was claimed that coyotes were increasing in numbers and growing much bolder in parts of Central and Northern Alberta.

Sun Spots And Disease

Influenza Epidemic Now Prevailing Can Be Found In The Stars

Dr. Ralph E. Delany, of Ottawa, president of the Royal Astronomical Society of Canada, declared that the influenza epidemic at present prevailing in parts of the country could be found in the "stars." He addressed the annual at-home gathering in the physics building at the University of Toronto.

The present cloudiness of the weather, he said, was related to the sun spots which, in turn, appeared to be related to the spread of influenza. Following his address he stated in an interview the sun spot progression indicated an epidemic much more severe would take place a year from now. The present mild epidemic was similar to the one which occurred the year or so preceding the flu in 1917-18 which took so many lives.

Medical men as well as astronomers were investigating the effects of sun spot cycles in the causation of influenza, Dr. Delany said.

"The old astrologers knew all these things but they weren't so busy going to the movies," he continued. "Men in other days knew that when Jupiter and Saturn were close together, there was going to be a period of rain and the pastures would flourish. They knew also of coming disease. The word influenza really means 'due to the influence of the planets.'"

"Jupiter and Saturn are coming close together and the sun spot cycle is approaching its peak as it did in 1917 and 1918. If you put me up against a stone wall and asked me whether the epidemic would be worse in another year, I would have to answer 'quite probably worse.'"

The King's Police Officer

Inspector Cameron Will Remain In Service Of George VI.

Inspector Cameron, King George VI.'s special police officer, will return to former fields of service when their majesties go to Buckingham Palace. He was associated with Chief Inspector Green, King George V.'s police officer, as Queen Mary's special officer. On the death of George V. and the general reshuffle of duties, Mr. Cameron, whose first association with the Royal family duty was with the Duke of York, rejoined the Duke, and will now continue with His Majesty in the new regime, says the Daily Sketch. It is uncertain whether Chief Inspector Storer, who went with the Duke of Windsor when he left the country, will return to normal police duty or remain with the ex-king.

May Be Exempt

Manitoba Home Improvements Likely To Be Tax Free

Exemption from taxation on all improvements made in Manitoba under the Dominion Housing Act home improvement plan will be provided in a measure to be introduced by the government at the next provincial legislative session, Premier John Bracken announced.

The premier told the executive of the Associated Boards of Trade, in response to representations for such action, the proposal would provide tax exemption not exceeding $2,000 in value for a term of five years, applicable in all municipalities in the province.

Royal Bank of Canada
68th Annual Meeting

Morris W. Wilson, President and Managing Director, Stresses Need for Orderly Recovery—Recommends Commission to Investigate Financial Relationships of Dominion, Provincial and Municipal Governments.

Sydney G. Dobson, General Manager, Reports $56,000,000 Increase in Deposits—Profits Improved—"Business Undoubtedly on Up Grade"

Warning against the dangers of a speculative boom, and a plea that recovery be maintained on an orderly basis, were outstanding features of the address of Morris W. Wilson, President and Managing Director, at the 68th Annual General Meeting of The Royal Bank of Canada.

That recovery was well on the way there could be little doubt, and "even the most sanguine would have hesitated a year ago to predict progress as great as that which has been accomplished during 1936," stated Mr. Wilson.

In addressing the meeting, Mr. Wilson said, in part:

"A serious drought again affected large areas in the West, with results that were disastrous to the farmers immediately concerned. Those farmers who reaped good crops last year benefited materially by higher prices, but in the midst of a broad recovery, farm income has lagged behind."

"It is gratifying that the stocks of grain in Canada are again of normal proportions. Nature is in a fair way to take the Government of Canada out of the grain business. It is sincerely to be hoped that she will not be drawn into it again."

Industries

"Prices for newsprint have shown a slight increase during the past year and this, together with a heavier volume of sales, has brought encouragement to the newsprint industry."

"In the lumber industry there has been a satisfactory volume of demand from Great Britain ever since the beginning of their building boom. This demand has been maintained during the past year and is the most important factor in the improvement of conditions in lumbering."

"The value of Canadian mineral production established a new high record in 1936, amounting to approximately $350 million compared with $312 million in 1935. The prospects of the Canadian mining industry are more favorable than at any time in the past."

"Throughout the manufacturing industries of Canada, volume of production has been above the level which prevailed in 1926 and in October reached the highest point recorded since July 1929."

Employment and Relief

"At the moment manufacturing employment is close to normal. In mining, as a whole, the number employed is greater than at any time in our history. In trade the volume of employment is not unsatisfactory. Under these circumstances, I cannot but feel that the time has come to examine with care our lists of those receiving unemployment relief. It is a notable fact that there has been no census of unemployment since 1931. At a time like the present a biennial census would give our various governing bodies facts which would help them in determination of policies."

Division of Taxes

Over a wide field of economic legislation it is virtually impossible to guess whether ultimate authority rests with the Province or with the Dominion.

"Let us secure a review of the whole subject by a Royal Commission with the object of resolving these complexities. Changed social and economic conditions have thrown responsibilities on various governing bodies that were never contemplated at the time of Confederation, and as a consequence it is found increasingly difficult, in some instances, to meet these additional responsibilities with the sources of revenue at their disposal. Having regard to the necessity of maintaining the national credit, if it is at all possible some solution must be found which will permit both provinces and municipalities to continue the service of their public debt in full."

Individualistic Democracy

"It is the fashion in certain quarters to say that the system of capitalism—or, as I prefer to term it, individualism—has failed."

"In the past it has adapted itself to changes in economic conditions and social concepts, and there is no reason to think that such adaptations will not continue to be made. In fact, they must be made if the system is to survive. With Communism, Fascism and Nazism in competition, individualism will survive only if the benefits which it provides to the community continue to be greater than those conferred upon people living under other organizations of society."

"If we would set an example to the world we must manifest that unusual degree of self-control which restrains booms and thus avoids subsequent depressions."

Money

"It is for this reason then that the present monetary situation is an outstanding challenge to economic individualism. Can a popular government, such as that in the United States, for instance, deal effectively with the monetary situation? The revaluation of gold by the United States and the reduction in the gold value of other currencies, made almost unanimous this past year by the capitulation of the European gold bloc introduced a dynamic inflationary force into world economy. It is encouraging to note that this potentiality seems to be understood by the monetary authorities in the United States and that they are taking definite action. The world has not previously experienced a period when borrowing rates have been so low for so long a time. If continued on this basis an unhealthy and artificial situation will develop. Easy money is a powerful force; it operates somewhat slowly but to wait until it is evident that speculation is out of hand will be to create conditions which can be corrected only by depression. In some quarters we are asked to believe that the increased government regulation of general economy may make it possible to continue low interest rates more or less indefinitely. I feel strongly that this view is not correct and that the action now being taken is by no means premature. By use, if necessary, of the huge reserves already accumulated it will be possible to prevent any serious interruption in recovery. It is surely better that we maintain the upward trend for a prolonged period and that recovery shall proceed in an orderly manner, with the minimum of encouragement to irresponsible speculation. We must on no account allow recovery to degenerate into boom—the forerunner of depression. Individualistic economy will stand or fall, depending upon its ability to prevent depressions."

General Manager's Address

In reviewing the annual balance sheet, Mr. S. G. Dobson, General Manager, referred with satisfaction to an increase of $54,668,757 in total assets, which now aggregate $855,588,457, and to an increase in deposits during the year of $56,579,909. Mr. Dobson said in part:

Current Loans Situation

"The demand for loans in Canada was again disappointing, though there have been indications during the last few months of increased requirements for business purposes. While advances under the heading of Current Loans in Canada decreased $41,251,783 during the year, this does not mean that the requirements of our ordinary borrowers were that much smaller. The reduction is fully accounted for by repayment of two special loans, namely, about $33,000,000 due by the Wheat Board liquidated principally through the sale of surplus stocks of wheat held under Government control, and the repayment of approximately $10,000,000 due by the Canadian Pacific Railway, being our participation in the loan to that company made by the chartered banks of Canada under Dominion Government guarantee."

"I give this information to correct an impression which casual consideration of this item in our Balance Sheet might create, that is, that business is still undergoing a process of liquidation."

"In this connection it is interesting to note that total commercial loans in Canada of all banks are only 50.46% of the amount outstanding at the end of 1929."

"Due to increased volume of business, I am pleased to report an improvement in profits of $201,492. While not large, this is an encouraging trend."

Improvement in Business

A review of conditions in Canada and other countries in which the bank has branches indicates a definite improvement in business in Canada and in practically all of the foreign countries in which we are represented. Business is undoubtedly on the upgrade, and I look forward to 1937 with a greater feeling of confidence than has been justified for some years."

CHAPTER XV.

Good intentions were one thing. Trying to reason with the madman at the wheel of Michael Fairbourne's car was utterly hopeless. Starr gave it up nearly as soon as he had ensconced her in the car, protesting still, hoping the car's purring noise would not wake up everybody in the place. Small chance of that, though. The liquor served by the Dales were as potent as any Peter Stuyvesant had ever served to the Indians.

The black silhouette of Stephanie's house disappeared behind them. They whirled out of the tree-shaded driveway, into the highway and sped through the night. Starr did not know where.

As soon as she thought they had got to where they could talk freely, over and over she pleaded:

"No good can possibly come of this, Michael. We haven't the right to be acting so disgracefully. It's terrible! You're engaged to another girl, we were both guests in her home, and I—"

OLD PEOPLE FEEL YOUNG

Just because more years than you care to count have fled by on your life's calendar is no reason for feeling old. Age, after all, isn't a matter of years. It is a matter of health. Stay vigorous and you stay young.

But how, you ask. Do it the way thousands of people of advancing years do. Take Wincarnis regularly. Wincarnis is a delicious wine, free from drugs, that brings you all the valuable elements of grapes combined with the highest grade beef and guaranteed malt extract. Its invigorating effect is unusually fast—yet perfectly natural. These valuable elements in Wincarnis give your ageing system the stimulating nourishment it requires. They soothe your nerves, enrich your blood, and flood your whole body with almost youthful buoyancy and vigour—quickly help to restore normal health.

More than 20,000 medical men have heartily endorsed Wincarnis. It is a great tonic. It will make you feel young again by creating for you new stores of strength and energy. Get Wincarnis from your druggist—Sales Agents: Harold F. Ritchie & Co. Ltd., Toronto.

"And you belong to another man," he sneered. "I get it, Starr. It's going to be a little tough on Lance."

Starr winced. She had quite forgotten that she was still wearing Lance's bracelet. She had not taken it off during her preparations for bed. She had worn it deliberately, much as she might have worn a chain of servitude. Deliberately she had wanted to keep before her eyes the badge which must bolster her courage for any proposed step. . . . Vaguely she recalled one fleeting thought when she had poured the powders into the glass of water. . . . When they found her, wearing Lance's bracelet—What a touch of drama! Nobody would really know why. . . .

Michael was going on inexorably: "You might as well make up your mind to it, Starr. What we are doing now places us both beyond the pale. We'll both be in the headlines tomorrow—what a story! And who cares now! It won't be a story either of us will like, but—we should worry! It doesn't matter now. Nothing matters but ourselves, and tonight! Once you told me—I haven't forgotten. . . . That's your 'Play-Girl' philosophy, isn't it?"

They spun along under the waning moon, along the Westchester roads that were wide and white and silver. They passed few cars. Most people, even the play-people of this wealthy community, were tired now, at home sleeping, hoping to acquire a little more energy for another day's burst of joy-getting.

Once he pulled up at the side of a road, and stopped, yanking a flask out of his pocket. He produced it with a flourish and in an impudent imitation of her own drawing voice suggested:

"Have a lil drink? It softens—sharpens—no, that's not right—what I mean, it softens life's sharp edges!"

Starr turned on him furiously. "You're drunk, Michael Fairbourne! That's what's the matter with you! Why do you have to be a beast?"

In her heart she knew he was not drunk, unless it was in a queer way that was foreign to any she had ever encountered. His eyes were soberly cold and steady. There was not even a wild light—only a look of grim determination. But she needed something tangible to seize upon, to blame for the fantastic situation which was engaging them. A wild situation—more like something out of a crazy book, or a nightmare dream.

Michael mocked, as his foot pressed the starter and the car shot ahead again: "You are not always so fastidious."

Starr burned to her inmost soul with the memory of that scene at the Casino. Suddenly she picked up the flask which Michael had laid down on the seat between them and hurled it out of the car. It crashed on the hard concrete, sending out a tinkle of glass splinters above the purr of the car.

Michael said: "Oh, very well!" looking at her queerly.

Mercifully her consciousness of much of the rest of that ride was dulled. She had run the gamut of human emotion. She sank back into her seat in an apathy that approached half-consciousness. Dimly she realized it when they stopped in a small town in which a string of lights announced they had reached a main street. Half consciously she recognized that Michael had stopped the car, was talking to a state policeman who loomed largely on his motorcycle and who was grinning. Michael was asking questions. It didn't matter what. Nothing did. How could anything in the world matter now—after this night, and what was happening? The Starr Ellison she had always known simply could not feel any more. Limbs and mind were numbed and lulled into a strange lethargy.

It might have been another eternity after she had heard the voice of the man on the motorcycle—Michael thanking him—that they spun through darkness and an unreal world before she heard his voice again, rousing her.

They were in another town, it appeared, which was evident only from the lonesome lights that pierced the dark and the loneliness. They were stopping before a house. Michael seemed to know where they were. It didn't matter.

Starr began hazily to understand when Michael roused up the sleepy justice of the peace who came to his door with a flash-light that showed

HOW TO OVERCOME ITCHING PILES

If you are annoyed with itching piles or rectal soreness, do not neglect the cause of the risk of an operation. Any itching, soreness or painful passage of stool, is nature's warning and proper treatment should be secured at once. For this purpose get from any druggist, a package of Hemroid and use as directed. This formula, which is used internally, quickly relieves the itching and soreness and aids in healing the sore, tender spots. Hemroid is a physician's prescription and is highly recommended. It is easy to use and it seems the height of folly for anyone to risk an operation when a simple remedy, which is so pleasant to use may be had at such a reasonable cost.
